Most critical among all backups are the customer's server backups – thanks to HEROware's MS Exchange backup facility, you can handle that right down to the individual mailboxes level for all your customers' MS Exchange servers.

Typical mail box restoration speeds depends on the size of the mailbox data and size. A typical mail box of 2 GB in size takes 10 - 15 minutes and a typical mail store takes anywhere between 45 minutes - 1 hour for restoration.
Features include:

- Optimal use of dump files for local storage: the dump file is compressed and automatically purged after use
- Support for Storage Group level and Mail Store Level backup
- Comprehensive Backup & Restore report of Exchange Server backup is available

Besides HEROware's refreshing user interface, a comprehensive approach also enables us to leverage powerful components of HEROware's core solution and apply them to Exchange Server backups. For example, data compression with the powerful ZLIB algorithm provides excellent compression ratios (Pictures, and videos don't compress much compared to regular files, exchange mailboxes etc. In general, if you backup an assorted environment of files, you can see a compression ratio of around 50%).

HEROware's military strength encryption (up to 448 bits) with the Blowfish algorithm ensures your data is always protected, and incremental backups capture byte level changes in your databases using our Intelli-Delta technology based on the proven and powerful RSYNC algorithm.
